

How Travel Marketers Can Craft An Effective UGC Strategy To Build Brand Relevancy, Authenticity And Engagement

Contents

- 2 Introduction
- 3 The Power of User-Generated Content
 - UGC is Trusted
 - UGC is Memorable
 - UGC is Influential
- 6 Drive Awareness with Impactful Advertising
- 7 Getting Permission
 - Rights By Hashtag
 - Rights By Registration
- 8 Hamilton Island Creates Facebook Ads That Resonate
- 10 Create Engaging Web Experiences
 - Homepages
 - Landing Pages
 - Blogs
- 14 Shorten The Path To Purchase with Social Commerce
- 15 Social Proof Drive Sales Boost for Wanted Shoes
- 17 Develop More Dynamic Emails
- 19 Enrich Live Experiences
- 21 Tips to Help Generate More UGC
 - Create (and Promote!) a Unique Hashtag
 - Host an Event
 - Run a Competition
 - Identify and Incentivize Influencers
- 20 Your Effective UGC Strategy Checklist

Introduction

3x

Brands spend
3x year-over-year
on content creation

5
PERCENT

of all brand-created content gets noticed by consumers

There has been a dramatic shift in way people discover, research, and interact with the world.

The Internet, smartphones, and social media have given consumers more access to information than ever before, especially when it comes to travel. Places are no longer a distant mystery that one can only dream of visiting. Now, they're taggable locations on social media platforms where people can scroll through the timeline and see their potential destinations from every angle.

As a result, consumers – particularly Millennials – have become experts at tuning out travel marketing messages, and instead focus on the content of their family, friends, and other people who are on vacation just like them.

So what does that mean for specifically branded content? Becon Research reports that while brands are spending 3x year-over-year on content creation, only 5 percent of all brand created content gets noticed by consumers.¹ Instead, people are increasingly turning their focus to the content friends, family, and peers are posting and sharing on social networks.

In fact, Millennials spend 30 percent of their daily media time—about 5.4 hours per day—looking at social rather than branded content.² And it's no wonder when people are posting over 1.8 billion photos daily on Instagram and Twitter alone.

And while the online travel market took a hit because of the pandemic, it's back and projected to reach a 1,012,890 million value by 2028, from a 593,480 million value in 2021. What's driving the growth? Aside from the return to normalcy, increased internet penetration, rising disposable income, and government initiatives to promote tourism are all factors as well.

So, how can travel brands compete with this volume of engaging, visual content that naturally captures so many people's attention? Start leveraging it!

“

You can use social media to turn strangers into friends, friends into customers and customers into salespeople.”

Seth Godin

Author, Entrepreneur, Marketer

The Power of User-Generated Content

User-generated content (UGC) has become the most trusted, memorable and influential content marketers can get their hands on.

UGC is any content—posts, tweets, images, videos, etc.—created freely by consumers on any online or social network.

UGC is Trusted

Consumers have always considered word-of-mouth recommendations to be the most credible source of advertising. Today, people still look to their friends, family and peers for advice, but now their recommendations are on social platforms in the form of UGC.

According to Nielsen, 92 percent of consumers trust earned media (like UGC) more than any other form of media.

When it comes to Millennials, who are the group of consumers least trusting of and engaged with brands, 86 percent believe UGC is generally a good indicator of a brand, service or product's quality.

One of the most challenging tasks marketers face is trying to cut through the noise to not only grab people's attention, but hold their attention. You can come up with the best message or imagery, but what is it worth if no one remembers it?

UGC has been proven to be more memorable than traditional advertising. Millennials, in particular, find UGC 35 percent more memorable than other media.

UGC is Influential

Because UGC is widely trusted, more memorable than other media and ubiquitous in people's everyday lives, it has emerged as one of the most influential forms of content.

In fact, 60 percent of consumers are influenced by user-generated content before making travel plans. 81 percent of consumers' general purchase decisions are influenced by social media posts⁵, and 84 percent of Millennials say user generated content from strangers has at least some influence on what they buy.

UGC is Memorable

92% of consumers trust earned media (like UGC) more than any other form of media

35% Millennials find UGC 35 percent more memorable than other media

86% of consumers believe UGC is generally a good indicator of a brand, service or product's quality

Strategically Integrating UGC Throughout The Customer Journey

To forge deeper, more meaningful connections with consumers, you must take an omnichannel approach to leveraging UGC as a core element of your marketing strategy.

From awareness and consideration, through purchase and advocacy, today's consumers demand consistent brand experiences and look to visual content for inspiration and validation.

By integrating engaging and authentic customer stories throughout your entire customer journey, you can:

- Humanize your brand story
- Create authentic and consistent brand experiences
- Strengthen customer trust
- Drive broad customer engagement
- Decrease the cost of content creation
- Build a library of unique customer content
- Set yourself apart from your competition
- Increase sales

Drive Awareness with Impactful Advertising

When trying to reach new audiences, you need content that's going to cut through the noise and truly grab people's attention.

Since UGC is more engaging, trusted, and memorable than other form of media, it's proven to be most effective at driving engagement and conversions across various advertising channels:

- Social ads
- Display Ads
- Digital Out of Home Ads (DOOH)

Studies have shown that Facebook and Instagram ad campaigns using user-generated photos see up to a 50 percent increase in click-through rate over campaigns using brand-created images, which can lead to a 5x return on ad spend.

Another key benefit of UGC-powered ad campaigns: freshness. One of the reasons consumers tune out ads is that they get bored of seeing the same creative over and over again.

Incorporating UGC into your travel advertising provides you with a nearly endless source of fresh, engaging content and serve images and video dynamically, so your ads don't get repetitive and are more authentic.

“

Ads that are shown around 3 times or more tend to decline in performance. We recommend creating a new ad with a new image or text about once a week.”

Facebook Business

50
PERCENT

UGC ads yield a

50
PERCENT

increase in click-through rate over ads using brand created images

Getting Permission

Before you start leveraging user-generated content in any paid promotions, you should get permission from the content creators. Comprehensive UGC platforms, like Nosto's Visual UGC, have automated rights management workflows that make it easy to request and obtain legal rights to user content – helping to delight your advocates and keep your legal team happy.

Rights By Hashtag

Give your best advocates a shoutout on social media while asking them to grant you rights to republish their content by replying with a simple hashtag of your choosing.

Rights By Registration

Need more explicit permission? Using a rights by registration method will allow your legal team to get terms and conditions agreed to while letting you capture additional consumer data—name, email, phone number, etc.

Hamilton Island Creates Facebook Ads That Resonate

Like most businesses, global travel destination, Hamilton Island, relies on Facebook advertisements to help attract new customers. Instead of using costly commissioned photography, they decided to feature the real traveler photos their guests were posting on social media.

Using Visual UGC's Rights Management workflows and Facebook ad plugin, Hamilton Island was able to easily request and gain permission to use travelers' content – seamlessly creating Facebook ads with approved UGC from their guests.

The result? Hamilton Island's Facebook ads featuring UGC received 3x higher click-through rates than their branded Facebook ads for 1/3 of the cost per click. Not only did their UGC-powered ads achieve higher engagement rates, but they also cost less – the ultimate win/win.

“

Real visitor photos are more relatable and credible with potential travelers than expensive professional photography.”

Aida Merdovic

Director of Online at Hamilton Island

3x

Higher click-through rates than their branded Facebook ads

1/3

Of the cost per click compared to the branded ads

Key Ad Metrics to Track

Impressions

The number of times your ad is displayed. This number by itself is mainly used to calculate other key metrics. (Impression does not mean someone actually saw the ad, just that it was shown on a webpage or within a mobile app.)

Engagement Rate

This metric only applies to paid social where users can interact with your ads without actually clicking through to the ad landing page. The Engagement Rate is the percentage of interactions (likes, shares, comments) per ad impression. $(\text{Number of Interactions} / \text{Total Impressions}) \times 100 = \text{Engagement Rate (\%)}$

Click-through Rate (CTR)

The number of clicks per ad impression. $(\text{Clicks} / \text{Impressions}) \times 100 = \text{CTR (\%)}$

Conversion Rate

The number of actions taken by visitors that arrived on your website from an ad (e.g. the number of purchases, downloads, signups, etc.)

Cost Per Click (CPC) or Cost Per Impression (CPM)

Different types of ads have different costing metrics. The two most common are CPC (more common with social ads) and CPM (more common with display ads). CPC is the amount you pay for each click your ad receives $(\text{Cost} / \text{Clicks} = \text{CPC})$. CPM is typically the amount you pay per 1,000 ad impressions. This number will be set by the display service or publication you're running your ads through.

Revenue

The total revenue that can be directly attributed to conversions from digital ads.

Create Engaging Web Experiences

As a marketer, the last thing you want is for a potential customer to land on a static webpage filled with stock imagery after clicking through from an engaging ad. To keep that experience consistent and compelling, you need to showcase UGC throughout your website. By doing so, you create a more consistent brand experience while also being able to deliver more dynamic and personal content to your online audiences in way that's scalable and cost-effective.

Additionally, UGC gives you a chance to tap into the power of social proof. By showing your brand, products or services in real world scenarios, you can effectively help website visitors envision what it would be like to take that flight, explore that destination, stay at that hotel, eat that food, drive that car, attend that school, own that outfit... you get the picture.

In fact, 51 percent of Americans trust user generated content more than other information on a company website.⁴ Not to mention that websites featuring UGC see a 20 percent increase in repeat visits and up to a 90 percent increase in the time spent on site.⁹

The following are the top places brands can use UGC to create interactive and engaging web experiences:

- Homepages
- Landing Pages (eCommerce Pages)
- Blogs

20
PERCENT

Websites with UGC see a 20% increase in repeat visits

90
PERCENT

Visitors to websites with UGC stay on the site up to 90% longer

Homepages

Your website's homepage is the virtual storefront to your brand. It's your chance to make a good first impression. By putting UGC front and center, you can build consumer trust, showcase social proof, and boost online engagement.

It can also be used to shine a spotlight on your brand's biggest fans, showing where people are talking about you, the places they've visited, and the interesting content they're sharing.

Take Helloworld, for example. They wanted to inspire people to plan their next holiday, while demonstrating their brand's global reach and expertise. To do so, they hosted a worldwide social relay, turning their site into an interactive map to track and highlight images posted by real travelers from around the globe.

With the #helloworldRELAY, they were able to not only activate their audiences and generate over 20,000 unique pieces of engaging content, but also received over 10,000 enquiries from customers over the seven-day sales period following the relay. In addition, the campaign won the Award of Excellence for Marketing Effectiveness in Social Media at the 2016 Communicator Awards.

Landing Pages

For all the time you spend optimizing your paid landing pages, there is a simple truth that will always guide you in the right direction: people are far more likely to engage with a landing page if it features fresh, dynamic content. In fact, customers are six times more likely to purchase a product if the page includes pictures from social media.

With the help of a UGC platform like ours, you can quickly and easily embed a constant stream of compelling customer content – customizing the display to fit your brand style. Not only will your landing page be consistent with your brand and your UGC ads, it will also have a real time mix of engaging, trustworthy and influential content.

Tito's Handmade Vodka has taken advantage of this UGC strategy, adding interactive UGC carousels to their online store as social proof for their branded wearable merchandise, barware, and dog swag.

“

This helps us further establish both digital and real world connections with our consumers.

Katy Gelhausen

Web and Social Media Coordinator, Tito's Vodka

Blogs

Anyone who's ever run a blog knows that it can be time consuming and creatively exhausting to maintain a steady stream of interesting content for readers. The better you know your customers, the easier it can be to create content for them. But even brands with fully developed audience personas and heaps of customer data points can often be surprised by what blogs seem to resonate with their readers and which seem to fall on deaf ears.

The best marketers among us have learned that UGC can help inform and improve your longform content strategy. Why waste your time reworking a tired blog from last year when you can leverage the unique insights and lived experiences of real customers?

This is what wearable fitness tracker brand, Amazfit, did with their blog. Having already incorporated UGC into their homepage and community page, they decided to take that powerful customer content and use it to develop blogs that would resonate with readers and highlight their micro-influencers.

One of their most successful blogs was in celebration of Mother's Day. They published a story around the Mom's of Amazfit, sharing lessons and stories from real customers who were mothers. By blogging about how real moms were using Amazfit fitness trackers, they were able to double their pageviews and increase sales by 29 percent

“

Moms don't want a company to tell them how to balance family time with personal fitness, they want to hear how other Mothers are navigating those same challenges.

Frederik Hermann

Amazfit's Head of Marketing and Sales

Key Website Metrics to Track

Pageviews

The number of views individual pages have received on your website. Pageviews can help you identify which pages are performing best on your site and can track changes in page performance over time.

Pages/Sessions

The average number of pages a visitor views in a session.

Average Session Duration

The average length of time a visitor spends on your website. $\text{Total Duration of All Sessions (in seconds)} / \text{Number of Sessions} = \text{Average Session Duration}$. (This one is a little tricky because Google can calculate it differently depending on whether there are “engagement hits” on the last page of a session.)

Bounce Rate

The percentage of single page sessions with no interactions. In other words, the percentage of people who came to a webpage, then left without clicking through or exploring your site.

Interactions

The summation of impressions, likes, clicks, shares, comments.

Conversions

The number of actions taken by visitors that arrived on your website from an ad (e.g. the number of purchases, downloads, signups, etc.).

Shorten The Path To Purchase with Social Commerce

Social media is no longer just about driving conversations; it's about driving commerce. Authentic social content – particularly images – are a powerful way to show not only online shoppers products in real world scenarios, but also future travelers their real world destinations.

Although social commerce is the next natural evolution of online purchasing, it's time to think beyond just dropping a “buy here” link in an Instagram post.

The social commerce of today is stuck in third-party platforms, like Facebook, Instagram and Pinterest. The social commerce of tomorrow empowers brands to make content more shoppable in more places.

At this point in your UGC strategy, you already have people interested in and engaged with your brand on your owned marketing channels.

To turn them from browsers into buyers, you don't want to send them back to third party social networks just so they can act on a piece of engaging social content. You need to make the UGC on your site accessible.

With powerful UGC platforms like Visual UGC, you can add interactive ShopSpots on any piece of visual content, creating a seamless path to purchase for interested buyers and travelers ready to take action.

6x

Customers are 6x more likely to purchase a product if the page includes social media

Social Proof Drive Sales Boost for Wanted Shoes

Wanted Shoes was aiming to give website visitors a unique way to browse their shoe catalogue, while providing the social validation shoppers crave at the point of purchase.

To solve this challenge, they used Stackla to turn their online catalogue into a real-time, interactive UGC experience – linking shoppers directly from the boots they saw on a girl in the park, to the purchase page for those same boots. By making their content shoppable and augmenting professional product photography with real customer photos, Wanted Shoes strengthened customer trust and improved their eCommerce conversions by 30 percent.

Wanted
SHOES

“

With a bounce rate of just 5 percent, [the interactive catalogue] is the most engaging page on the website. Ninety-five percent of users click through to specific product pages. We have no doubt that the social catalogue certainly does assist in the overall path to purchase.”

Jennifer Christodoulou
Marketing Manager, Wanted Shoes

30
PERCENT

Wanted Shoes saw a 30% Improvement in eCommerce Conversions on their pages

Key Social Commerce Metrics To Track

Page Views

The number of views individual pages have received on your website. Pageviews can help you identify which pages are performing best on your site and can track changes in page performance over time.

Pages/Sessions

The average number of pages a visitor views in a session.

Social Revenue

The amount of income directly attributed to social commerce sales.

Average Order Value

The average amount spent each time a customer places an order.

Shopping Cart Abandonment Rate

The ratio of abandoned online carts to the number of completed purchases. $[1 - (\text{number of completed purchases} / \text{number of shopping carts created})] \times 100 = \text{Shopping Cart Abandonment Rate (\%)}$

Repeat Purchase Rate

The percentage of your customer base that has come back to make a least a second purchase with your brand. $(\text{Number of customers who have shopped with you more than once} / \text{Total number of customers}) \times 100 = \text{Repeat Purchase Rate (\%)}$

Develop More Dynamic Emails

If you're one of the 73 percent of marketers who say that email marketing is crucial to your business¹⁰ and a channel that delivers one of the highest ROIs, you already know the power of this staple marketing tactic. Emails have long been one of the most effective tools at a marketer's disposal—particularly when it comes to re-engaging past customers and inspiring repeat purchases.

Although email may be an oldy, but goody as far as marketing tactics go, that doesn't mean your email content has to follow traditional email templates.

Add some dynamism and personalization to this static medium by infusing a steady stream of relatable, authentic content into your new and existing email marketing campaigns.

Leading UGC platforms like Nosto's allow you to easily display the most recent and relevant user-generated images in any email marketing platform—ultimately creating more customized emails for individuals in your database. Featuring fresh, personalized and visually compelling content in marketing emails has proven to produce higher click-through and conversion rates. Whether it be sightseeing spots for specific countries, or product recommendations for certain weather—a personalized touch for every traveler goes a long way.

“

The most captivating emails today have images that stretch edge-to-edge across different screen sizes, and the most engaging images are the most authentic to a particular brand, often created by real customers.

Andrea Wildt
CMO, Campaign Monitor

73
PERCENT

of marketers say that email marketing is crucial to their business

Key Email Metrics To Track

Email Click-Through Rate (CTR)

The percentage of people who clicked on one or more links within your emails.

Conversion Rate

The percent of people who took a desired action after clicking on a link within your email. (e.g. made a purchase, downloaded an asset, filled out a form, etc.)

Unsubscribe Rate

The percentage of people who actively unsubscribe or opt-out of receiving additional emails from your brand. You want to be retaining and growing your email list, not losing them.

Email Sharing/ Forwarding Rate

The percentage of people who click on a “share this” or “forward this” button from an email.

Enrich Live Experiences

While web and email may be the most important marketing channels throughout the purchasing process, UGC can also be leveraged across other real time channels to help motivate existing customers to create more content while also amplifying your brand's reach to help grow awareness and discovery.

Reinvigorate your fans by creating two way conversations that shine a spotlight on the content they're creating about your brand, product or service in real time.

Whether you're hosting a customer contest, a pop-up sale or an annual charity event, UGC platforms can enable you to find and curate all the content people are posting and seamlessly showcase that content across live event screens and digital billboards. You can even invite audiences to live vote, like and share event content as they are posted.

Key Live Experience Metrics To Track

Volume of Posts

The amount of social posts about the event. This can be tracked through the use of an event hashtag and/or geolocation filters.

Interactions

The summation of impressions, likes, clicks, shares, comments.

Conversions

The number of people who took a desired action from a live event display (e.g. purchases, downloads, signups, etc.).

Growth in Social Audience

The amount of new followers you gain across all your social channels during the event.

Tips to Help Generate More UGC

Worried about your customers and fans not creating enough quality UGC to sustain this type of integrated marketing strategy? Here are some ways to encourage consumers to not only share content about your brand, but share the right kind of content to support your marketing needs.

Create (and Promote!) a Unique Hashtag

Hashtags have become a common way for brands to create, track and promote conversations with audiences around their company, products, services or campaigns.

When creating a hashtag for your brand, it's important to make sure it's unique, relevant and easy to remember. While some brands like to keep their hashtags broad and simple for ongoing use—like Tito's Vodka's #LoveTitos hashtag—others try to get more creative and specific around particular campaigns – like the #EyeWanderWin hashtag Expedia used for a recent UGC photo contest. And before you finalize any new brand hashtag, make sure to perform social media searches to ensure the one you chose isn't already being used to discuss another organization or a topic you might not want to be associated with.

Once you've decided on an awesome hashtag, you need to promote it. Naturally, you'll want to start using it consistently across all your social channels, throughout your website and even in your marketing emails, digital advertisements and direct mail materials.

Host an Event

Whether it's online or in person, hosting an event is another great way to encourage your audience to create more UGC while also giving your brand more control over the environment in which that content's being created. Again, having an identifiable hashtag for your event will be key in spreading the word and organizing the conversations people are having around your brand.

Last year, Virgin Holidays organized a #RedIsTheNewBlack online sales event during Black Friday weekend, inviting bargain hunters to participate on social media to unlock incredible travel discounts. Using Visual UGC they created a dynamic visualization of the collective volume of tweets to encourage their community to keep posting in order to reveal more offers on their website. Within 8 hours, their community generated over 6,000 tweets and Virgin Holidays improved their overall social sentiment by 37 percent and increased online bookings by 260 percent.

Other brands, like the British Heart Foundation, have used annual in-person events to drive fresh UGC. Their nonprofit organization hosts the London to Brighton bike race that attracts over 18,000 participants every year. Yet, only few actually fundraised. In 2019, they placed a Visual UGC-powered Jumbotron on Brighton Beach displaying pictures posted by participants with the #LondonToBrighton hashtag. The race produced over 36,000 social impressions and lifted online engagement by 586 percent.

Run a Competition

Competitions are a great way to engage and reward your customers while sourcing more of the types of content you want customers to publish about your brand. Top UGC platforms, like Visual UGC, provide comprehensive tools to launch, moderate and display contests within your owned web properties and marketing channels.

With Nosto, you can easily set up competition rules and parameters, as well as voting tools, leaderboards, and terms and conditions workflows to streamline contest management. Not to mention, you can collect entries across over 25 of the most popular social networks to maximize exposure and minimize barriers to entry.

Social competitions can be a highly effective method for driving audience engagement, building awareness or generating a high volume of content quickly. Compelling discounts and giveaways are great motivators to ensure the success of any competition.

For example, Expedia asked people to submit their best travel photos using the contest hashtag #EyeWanderWin to be entered to win a free trip to a mystery destination. During the 3 week competition, Expedia and their partners promoted the contest on their paid and owned social channels, in their blogs and in cinema ads throughout Singapore—while dynamically showcasing incoming entrants’ photos across their campaign site in real-time.

As a result, they received over 4,300 authentic traveler photos they can use in marketing materials going forward—including localized images of food experiences throughout Asia. They were also able to freely engage with travel influencers and feature UGC from the contest in their blogs, increasing traffic by 34 percent month over month.

Social competitions can be a highly effective method for driving audience engagement, building awareness or generating a high volume of content quickly. Compelling discounts and giveaways are great motivators to ensure the success of any competition.

Identify and Incentivize Influencers

With their built-in audiences and broad reach, engaging influencers (and micro influencers) can be a targeted and effective way of kickstarting your UGC campaign—particularly for brands that don’t already have a large, active group of advocates.

When kicking off their #helloworldRELAY, Helloworld knew they needed to gather strong momentum from the start. To do so, they selected 80 influencers from different locations around the world, charging each with posting 12 photos in 12 hours. With these influencers leading the relay, others were encouraged to join in and tens of thousands responded organically, making the campaign a great success.

Your Effective UGC Strategy Checklist

✓ Develop a Stated Purpose and Hypothesis

You must have a business need or purpose behind your UGC strategy. Once you understand the challenge you're trying to solve and the outcome you want to achieve, the easier it will be to develop goals, determine what type of content you need to support it (post, photos, videos, etc.) and what metrics you need to track to determine success.

✓ Determine Goals and Performance Metrics

If your goal is to increase awareness, you should probably focus on infusing your digital and social ads with UGC before expanding into a broader strategy. If your goal is to improve customer engagement, what point(s) in the purchasing cycle do you want to influence most?

Whatever strategic UGC mix your goals demand, you need to determine key performance metrics to monitor upfront. This will ensure you and your team can accurately track your success, making adjustments when needed and demonstrating return on investment (ROI) to the broader company.

✓ Get Buy-in from Key Stakeholders

You can have all the great ideas you want, but if you don't have the support of decision makers and your broader team, then chances are they'll never leave the ideation phase. If you want your UGC strategy to take off and truly be successful, you'll need to present your plan to the necessary parties and make a convincing business case. Luckily, you will have already developed a plan complete with stated goals and defined success metrics, so how could they say no?

✓ Find a Comprehensive UGC Platform

While it might not seem like a must have at first, once you start attempting to sift through the massive amounts of content people share online to find the best stories, you'll quickly be in search of an automated solution to help manage this overwhelming task.

Leading UGC platforms like ours can help you scalably discover, curate, showcase and analyze all the most compelling customer content from across the social web. Visual UGC's powerful visual recognition technology scans each piece of visual content as it is aggregated, deciphering its contents and automatically applying relevant tags for scalable content personalization.

We've also applied machine learning to content moderation and optimization with Co-Pilot, our predictive recommendation engine. Co-Pilot's deep learning algorithms evaluate published content, analyze how your customers interact with it and provides intelligent recommendations for what content will perform the best – helping you publish better content with less effort.

✓ Launch, Test, and Iterate

With company buy-in, a stated plan, goals set, metrics being monitored and a scalable UGC platform, you'll be ready to put your strategy in action. Once you've launched your integrated UGC strategy, you should constantly monitor your key metrics, test new ideas and keep iterating to ensure you're always learning and improving to get the best business results. Want to start building your UGC strategy?

Visit <https://www.nosto.com/products/visual-ugc/> to request a custom demo of Organic Influencers.

ABOUT NOSTO

Nosto enables online brands to deliver authentic, relevant, and personalized experiences at every touchpoint, across every device.

An AI-Powered Commerce Experience Platform (CXP) designed for ease of use, Nosto empowers brands to build, launch, and optimize 1:1 omnichannel marketing campaigns and digital experiences without the need for dedicated IT resources or a lengthy implementation process.

Leading brands in over 100 countries use Nosto to grow their business and delight their customers. Nosto supports its clients from its offices in New York, Los Angeles, London, Paris, Berlin, Stockholm and Helsinki.

Find out more about Visual UGC:

<https://www.nosto.com/products/visual-ugc/>

